Add it to your food vending trailer

The food vending trailer business originated in the USA, including the street vending hot dog carts that today are a trademark of the country!

As one would expect, given its success, the concept went global and Portugal was no exception. Food vending trailers are so common nowadays that they end up sharing a similar status to that of "normal" restaurants, in terms of people's preference - apart from casual customers, some people have their favourite food vending trailer!

Due to its shape and capacity, these mustard dispensers are extremely practical, particularly for street food vendors.

A very practical dispenser for those who cannot dispense with Paladin's Mustard anymore!
